

Discussion

- This is a verbal assessment of what a student may already know. Depending on how involved they are in the discussion and how in-depth their responses are might indicate this student has a good understanding.

Discussion question: what are the seven types of light rays and an example of where they might see it in the real world.